

Time flies !

The first quarter of 2014 was over. In these three months, we have accomplished a few critical developments to increase our competitiveness, both externally and internally!

XCLASS Tablet – Android Edition (Phase Two)

We have been receiving customers' positive and promising feedbacks on our XCLASS Tablet (Android Edition) since the first release in Jan 2014. In order to provide an all-around solution to the modern classroom, we have completed the second development stage in which more features have been added including Student Show, Student Monitor, Remote Aid, Messaging, Survey Mode, and Short Question.

This updated version will be available in April, 2014 and we are pleased to provide free updates to those customers who have purchased the first version. If you would like to get a software trial or have any questions, please contact us at sales@suntechgroup.com

Launching Our New Website

A company website is an important bridge between the organization with its partners and customers so that they can keep updated with the company's movements. To serve this purpose, we have spent much effort in re-designing our company website so that both existing partners and new visitors can find it more convenient to get the information they are looking for. Feel free to visit our new website here: <http://www.suntechgroup.com/it>

A Look Back to BETT Show 2014 in London

Our mission in BETT Show 2014 in London was accomplished successfully with promising feedbacks and we had met many new customers and business partners who appreciated our solutions. Besides, we have received many valuable comments and new ideas for future product development by the market sharing from our guests. Given our great success, we have decided to participate in BETT Show 2015 again and we will bring out more new and innovative solutions to the ICT market by that time. Stay Tuned!

Company Spring Dinner 2014

It is a tradition for Chinese companies to hold a dinner in spring to bring staff and guests together to celebrate the New Year. There is no exception for our company too! We just had our company spring dinner on 21st March. It was such an enjoyable night and we would like to take this opportunity to express our gratitude to our employees again for all their hard work that contributed to our success of the past year. We wish our team spirit could be strengthened to strive for better performance in the coming year!
