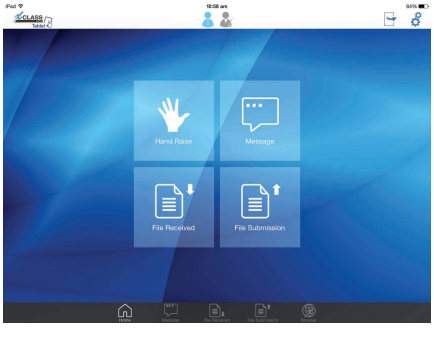
It is about 1 month away to say good-bye to 2015. The last quarter of the year is always our peak season and we have been dedicated in various projects, preparing different events especially BETT 2016 and updating the promotional collaterals apart from product development in order to cope with various development.

BETT 2016

Time flies! The BETT Show is coming in around two months. We have been devoted in the pre-show preparation and we are very excited for this upcoming event. The show will be held in Excel London from 20th to 23rd Jan, 2016. During the show, we will be presenting the latest development of our solutions on XCLASS Multimedia Classroom Management and DLL Digital Language Laboratory. Moreover, we will be demonstrating our updated version of mobile solution – XCLASS Multi-platform. It allows teacher (teacher PC) to effectively manage, control, and interact with students with different devices, that including Android, Windows, or iOS in a wireless environment. Apart from showcasing our latest products, this is definitely a precious opportunity for us to meet our existing and potential customers and obtain the contemporary information and trend in the ICT market.



Demo Video for XCLASS and DLL

Since our products and solutions have been distributed to over 80 countries globally, to help our users and distributors easily understand our solutions, we have made various marketing materials such as leaflet, website, product demonstration, and etc. Recently, we have made a new series of demo videos for our XCLASS & DLL and these demo videos are interesting, informative and easy to understand. With these videos, we are sure the new users can understand our solutions well by watching them. Moreover, we believe that these videos would become a very useful tool to our distributors as they can introduce and promote our solutions by showing these videos easily.
