New Trend in Wireless Teaching & Learning

Happy New Year! Stepping to 2012, we are saying goodbye to the first decade of the new millennium. It is the same story regarding to technology. Technology has been developing rapidly in the last decade. It does not only improve our living standard, it also improves the quality of education in many ways. These days, all educational facilities are challenged to move up to a higher-speed and more reliable Wi-Fi connection. Wireless teaching environment is not just an imagination in regard to the classroom in the future. Instead, it can facilitate the communication between teachers and students and as a result, it can definitely enhance the effectiveness of both teaching and learning.

Last year, SUN-TECH was glad to be awarded with a tender regarding wireless teaching and our XCLASS EVO Wi-Fi was offered in this project. With wireless connectivity, teaching becomes more flexible and effective as teachers no longer have to worry about gathering students in a computer lab in order to use computers, now any classroom can be a computer lab! It fosters wonderful opportunities for human interaction by offering one on one or small group collaboration. The benefits of wireless teaching do bring much attention to schools and we have received many inquiries from different institutions all over the World about XCLASS EVO Wi-Fi. In the future, we can foresee the demand of wireless teaching will be increasing as we believe this is the new trend of modern classroom.

This year, SUN-TECH will still be aggressively involving in the development of XCLASS EVO Wi-Fi. With the enhancement of new technology, we will continuously develop state-of-the-art education technology in order to fulfill your requirement. Not only just focusing on product development, we are also keen on promoting IT education to different countries as we do hope schools, teachers and students will be benefited by our products.

SUN-TECH also encourages and supports staff to make contribution to the community. Three of our colleagues took part in UNICEF Charity Run 2011 held on 27th November 2011. During the event, a total HK$8.5 million was raised for UNICEF's "Unite for Children. Unite against AIDS" Global Campaign to help prevent the transmission of HIV from mothers-to-be to their babies. In 2012, we aim to carry on this culture so as to share our love to society.

2012 is the Year of Dragon in Chinese Zodiac. Historically, Dragon was a symbol of the Emperor in China. Even nowadays, it is also a symbol of power, strength and luck. We wish good luck always come to you and wish you a Prosperous year in the Year of Dragon. Let's work harder together to achieve more in 2012.
